

Endnotes

- <sup>1</sup> Ray Smith, "Cautious—Not Complacent," Telephone Engineer and Management 96(2), 1992, p. 36.
- <sup>2</sup> See, for example, Anita Taff, "U.S. Fiber Network Could Be a Boon for Users," Network World 9(9), 1992, pp. 19-20 and Bruce Egan, Information Superhighway: The Economics

Acknowledgements

The Alliance for Public Technology wishes to acknowledge Dr. Barbara O'Connor and Dr. Susan Hadden as principal authors of this paper. It was through their tireless efforts that APT's vision took both form and substance. The Alliance also wishes to thank its members who reviewed earlier drafts and provided additional insight. Drs. O'Connor and Hadden worked to ensure that individual comments and suggestions were woven together so that each reinforced and strengthened the other. Their work embodies APT's vision by connecting the ideas and contributions of "each to all." For that, APT is truly grateful and appreciative.

Board of Directors

Dr. Barbara O'Connor, Chairperson
Institute for the Study of Politics and Media,
California State University, Sacramento*

Mary Gardiner Jones, President
Consumer Interest Research Institute*

Board Members

Dr. Jennings Bryant
Institute for Communication Research, University of Alabama*

Ruth Jordan
The George Washington University Medical Center*

Linda C. Byrd-Harden
National Association for the Advancement of Colored People*

Deborah Kaplan
World Institute on Disability*

Gerald E. Depo
Town of Bloomsburg*

Helen Nelson
Consumer Research Foundation of San Francisco*

Henry Celler
The Markle Foundation*

Rosilyn Schleife
K-12 Physical Education Teacher

Dr. Susan G. Hadden
LBJ School of Public Affairs, University of Texas, Austin*

Donald Vial
California Foundation on the Environment and the Economy

*Organization is for identification purposes only.